Renny Resh enjoys three things in life: family, golf and hot dogs.

Golfers at Riverview Golf Course on 8th Street and Dobson Road usually stop by Da Dino Dog cart after playing nine holes.

"I am the luckiest guy in the world," said Renny, who sports an apron over his golf attire when working behind his hot dog cart.

At, 68, Renny, who retired from sports marketing years ago, has been a hotdog vendor at golf courses in Scottsdale and Mesa for a few years.

Why sell franks at the golf course?

"If you're retired like me, I need something to keep me busy. I love to cook and I feel comfortable around golf course," said Resh, who sells on average 20 wieners a day.

"It's kind of fun serving a delicious hotdog. I love to please people with food. I love the exchange with people...about politics, sports or Tiger Woods." Resh said you don't have to be a golfer to buy a hot dog -- everyone is welcome. What kind of hot dog do you offer? Weiner fans can get a Hebrew National all-beef frank, polish dogs, corn dogs on a stick, plus all the fixings such as chili, sauerkraut, fresh chopped onions, pickles, tomatoes, condiments and seasonings. Resh also sells cold beverages and chips, too.

What's next? Renny plans to bring his cart to other Mesa golf courses. He recently catered a women's golf outing and a children's birthday party.

What are your hours? The Dino Dog cart is open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.
